Dear Albie,

I should like to invite you to the department to give a seminar on your work. I am aware that your relatively recent death may present some technical problems, but the seminar budget of $\pounds\epsilon$ (or possibly a splendid £1) should stretch to the employment of a cheap medium (an expert on aethereal matters), and if you are able to visit, I am sure there would be general interest in such a special speaker.

The current seminar list is at `<http://www.astro.gla.ac.uk/seminars/>`.

After the talk, we should be able to ajourn to a nearby pub, for beer and dice. If there's a typographer to hand, he can be asked to 'Get CAR art' in Switzerland.

Yours simultaneously,

Norman Gray
